

Do reward bonuses apply to mercenaries and allies?

I have a question related to balancing one of the scenarios for my campaign.

Do mercenary and ally versions of units receive the unit reward bonuses from winning missions or only regulars?

I can't remember.

But my guess is ALL versions of that unit get the bonus. It would be just too hard to manage the units otherwise for the game.

You can do an easy test by giving a huge bonus after scenario 1 and then seeing if in scenario 2 all units get it.

Your guess is off. I've tested the mission bonuses and it actually turns out that mercenaries do not get the bonuses, they apply only to regular units. This means I'll have to give the elf human player bonuses to make the mercenary units stronger along with everything else.
