I want a Leprechaun for Christmas

At the moment I have completed half of my sequel to Darklords Rising, which is presently called Reign of Death. I have completed three custom units but the third one's graphics well distracted my attention from the campaign (all those damn pixels needed changing) and I lost the flow so to speak. The sixth scenerio plot involves the Fey lands of Etheria, but there are no fey units in the vanilla Darklords Rising.

I need a leprechaun unit graphic. I was intending to modify the male rogue graphic, the one I enclose with this thread. Then it struck me, why not create a placeholder leprechaun unit and get on with making the scenario and 'politely request' someone to volunteer to actually complete the graphic for me.

You can do whatever you like as long as you use the unit production graphic in the attached file. You will of course recieve full credit and I'll send you the finished unit's files as your 'property'. My only condition is that I can use the finished unit and distribute it indirectly via any campaigns or scenarios that I might make.

That'll be because I have once again forgot that you have to zip files before uploading them.
